it is the third most common cause of death in developed countries, and the leading cause of disease and illness in some countries.

She did not display any depressive or psychotic symptoms but the staff noted cognitive slowing and short-term memory difficulties.

They did not forget to share their thoughts.

The independent mortgage shop Lisburn Road